

CMP Financial Planning Launches New Website

CMP Financial invites clients/prospects to explore new website and subscribe to newsletter

(Columbus, Ohio – March 2016) CMP Financial Planning has launched a new website, www.cmpfinancial.com. The site was designed and developed to give the firm a brand new look and feel with updated content and graphics that better reflect the firm and the services it provides to clients.

The website was designed to provide more information about the firm's financial planning and investment management services to the distinct client groups it serves: small business owners, retirees, families with special needs and dental professionals. The firm believes strongly in helping educate its clients on financial planning issues in order to help them prepare for and live financially healthy retirements. The site features a blog providing timely educational information and commentary, as well as informational resources and referrals to other types of financial professionals such as attorneys and insurers.

The site will also serve as a home for firm founder Christina Povenmire's forthcoming e-book, "Creating Financial Independence and Retirement for Dentists," written to provide valuable financial planning advice to clients and prospects in the dental profession.

"We're excited about our new look and feel, and ability to provide clients and prospects with information about our firm and services and that will help better their financial lives," says Christina Povenmire.
